

RIVERS LAND TRUST

Keeping our wild & working lands forever abundant

Camp Myrtlewood

Conservation Easement

Not only is Camp Myrtlewood a wonderful spot to hike and enjoy the outdoor forest environment, it is a shining example of a Working Lands Conservation Easement. The Camp Myrtlewood conservation easement protects the forests and streams while providing a showcase for sustainable forestry practices and environmental education.

Camp Myrtlewood is located in Bridge, just outside of Myrtle Point, and encompasses 160 acres of forests, streams and meadows - the kind of place where you can bathe in the glory of nature.

Owned by the Church of the Brethren, Camp Myrtlewood serves as a summer camp and retreat center. More than 2000 visitors come every year. The Camp staff and other professionals work closely with Wild Rivers Land Trust to ensure the connection between healthy forests and healthy people is available forever.

Working together to keep the irreplaceable lands and waters of the southern Oregon coast forever wild and abundant. We believe our enduring environment, economic prosperity, and rural coastal culture are connected. From Tenmile Lakes to Brookings, we conserve and steward natural spaces people and wildlife depend on for clean air, fresh water, and healthy habitat. And by partnering with willing landowners, we help working farms, forests, and ranches preserve their legacy today for future generations.
